

Smithsonian
National Museum of African Art

May 6, 2013

Chief Nike Okundaye
Care of Ambassador Robin R. Sanders
Sent by Email to Ambassador Sanders

Dear Chief Okundaye,

The Smithsonian National Museum of African Art would like to thank you for your two works of art "Women in Protest I & II" which were donated to the Museum by Ambassador Robin Renee Sanders in September 2012. We appreciate your commitment to both the arts and to preserving African and Nigerian culture.

These beautiful items are wonderful additions to our museum collection.

All of us in the National Museum of African Art family are grateful that your works are now in our permanent collection. These gifts will be enjoyed for many years to come.

Sincerely,

Dr. Johnnetta Betsch Cole, Ph.D
Director, National Museum of African Art
Smithsonian Institution